Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-5, 11, drawn to a method for providing vent apertures to a web component, classified in class 493, subclass 223.
 - II. Claims 6-10, drawn to a plastic bag, classified in class 383, subclass 100.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process such as forming the apertures by melting through the web component instead of cutting

2. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

3. During a telephone conversation with Mr. Levy on 8/24/00 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of group I, claims 1-5, 11.

Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action.

Claims 6-10 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37

CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 1-5, 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. From the specification, it appears that the teeth of the wheel should not be parallel to the direction of the cutting axis as claimed. It appears that the teeth should be perpendicular to the direction of the cutting axis to create the product in figure 3 with the slits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-5, 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cetrelli (#4,284,228) in view of Applicant's admitted prior art.

Art Unit: 3721

Cetrelli shows the method of providing vent apertures to a web component wherein a line of vent apertures 7 are oriented in a direction that is not parallel to a direction. Cetrelli discloses that the vent apertures 7 are formed by a roller with depressions to form apertures 7 (col 3 lines 65+). Cetrelli does not specifically show the roller means in combination with an anvil. Applicant's admitted prior art, hereinafter, AAPA, disclose that the prior art slit perforations using a round wheel against a hardened anvil roller (p. 1 lines 16+). AAPA disclose that the slits are collinear segments as shown in figure 1. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to provide Cetrelli with cutting wheels and anvils as taught by AAPA to form depressions in the workpiece using conventional methods. The only way to cut the apertures of Cetrelli is to move the cutting wheel in a direction that is transverse to the direction of apertures. Regarding claims 2 and 11, this is the conventional way to form slits as shown in figure 1 wherein the teeth are parallel to the cutting axis. Regarding claim 5, zipper tape means are well known in the art

6. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
